Research and Development

This unit is responsible for investigating children's needs regarding toys and examining the primary concerns of parents. Ultimately, the outcomes of this research aim to produce toys that not only captivate visually—which is the foremost attribute of a toy—but also meet children's needs while addressing parental concerns.

Additionally, this unit is tasked with exploring the latest global technologies to develop products with these essential features. Continuous improvement in product quality, particularly in areas such as visual appeal and health standards—one of the main concerns for parents—stems from the research conducted within this unit. Key outcomes include the incorporation of nanotechnology in production, the creation of antibacterial products, and the use of edible colors.
